

If your course is paid for by the West London Workforce Development Confederation through the contractual arrangements, or by your employer then they will be notified by the College about attendance on the study days.

Course work grades are not disclosed to third parties, however as part of the contract, details of the overall results (pass or fail) will be sent to the Lead Signatory of the Trust. In addition, if the course leader considers that you require additional help with your academic work, then a letter indicating the extra assistance that will be offered will be sent to you. A copy will be sent to the person responsible for payment of your fees. It is anticipated that this dialogue will assist you in your studies, allowing the academic and clinical staff to work together to provide maximum support during your course. It is expected that you will also keep your manager informed of your progress.
